The President's Overview

This year has been richly rewarding as we celebrate the success and growth of paddle sport across the world.

There have been so many highlights in 2023 having staged outstanding World Cups and World Championships and witnessed our disciplines develop thanks to our dedicated staff and the work of all our federations, coaches, officials and volunteers.

One of our greatest successes of the past 12 months was confirmation at the IOC Session in Mumbai that both sprint and slalom will be on the programme at LA 28.

It has also been fantastic to see the implementation of our Fit for Future strategy as we aim to take our sport to a higher level with collective and progressive action.

Excitement builds on the water

With the Olympics and Paralympics on the horizon, our athletes have excelled on the global stage in the hope of securing their place at Paris 2024.

Our World Championships in slalom and kayak cross in London and in sprint in Duisburg proved to be superb events as quota spots were sealed for the Games.

There remains growing interest in our sport which has been reflected by the high volume of tickets that have been sold for the Olympics.

We have also held top-class competitions in our non-Olympic disciplines with World Championships in Canoe Marathon, Canoe Freestyle, Wildwater Canoeing, Ocean Racing, Dragon Boat and Stand Up Paddling.

Coverage of these events have increased after securing new contracts with TV stations and sealing an exciting partnership with China Media Group.

Important decisions made off the water

Ukrainian paddlers impacted by war continue to receive great support from our canoe family which is demonstrating solidarity in times of conflict.

We have adhered to the International Olympic Committee recommendations in allowing Russian and Belarusian paddlers to participate as Individual Neutral Athletes under special conditions.

While the world is drifting further apart, it is crucial that the Olympic Movement shows the unifying power of sport.

We have achieved a pioneering partnership with Alibaba Cloud to ensure that we deliver on our sustainability goals at competitions.

Another highlight of 2023 was holding our first Women's Symposium which brought together more than 100 delegates from 35 countries to take part in a series of workshops.

This gathering in Dublin was essential to our gender equality strategy as we commit to increasing the role of women in the global paddling community.

Plans are also afoot to create an International Canoe Federation satellite office in Hungary as we look to maximise the success of our sport in the coming years.

Canoe Slalom

- A total of 24 nations from five continents have confirmed canoe slalom quotas for the Paris 2024 Olympics after the ICF Canoe Slalom World Championships in London, England and the European Championships in Krakow, Poland.
- Spain, Czech Republic, Great Britain, France, Italy, Slovenia and Slovakia have qualified athletes in all four categories – men's and women's K1 and C1.
- Great Britain made home advantage count at the World Championships at Lee Valley, with Joseph Clarke winning the men's K1 and men's kayak cross titles, Mallory Franklin triumphing in the women's C1 and Kimberley Woods capturing the women's kayak cross crown.
- Australia's Jessica Fox returned to the top of the women's K1 podium for the first time since 2018, while Benjamin Savsek of Slovenia ended his six-year wait for a second individual world title with victory in the men's C1.
- The Paris 2024 Olympic venue hosted the ICF Canoe Slalom World Cup Final in October as Fox topped the overall World Cup standings in both the women's C1 and women's K1, while Clarke and Woods were series winners in the respective women's and men's kayak cross and Czech Vit Prindis and Slovenia's Luka Bozic accumulated the most points from the men's K1 and men's C1 races respectively in the 2023 season.

Canoe Sprint

- A total of 28 countries from four continents have confirmed canoe sprint quotas for the Paris 2024 Olympics following the ICF Canoe Sprint World Championships in Duisburg, Germany.
- Hosts Germany earned the most athlete quota spots with 17, while Spain and Hungary both earned 15 Olympic starters, while six nations – Argentina, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, Croatia and the USA – earned just one place.

- Five-time Olympic champion Lisa Carrington of New Zealand took her world title tally to 15 after coming out on top in the women's K1 200, women's K1 500 and women's K4 500.
- Canada's Katie Vincent also completed a golden hat-trick, triumphing in the women's C1 500, women's C1 5000 and mixed C2 500.
- Chinese Taipei won its first-ever World Cup gold thanks to Kuan-Chieh Lai's victory in the men's C1 500 in Poznan, Poland.
- A three-day World Cup in Paris, France doubled up as a test event for the Olympic Games as top paddlers tried out the Vaires-sur-Marne venue.

- The International World Games Association announced in July that Dragon Boat will join Canoe Polo and Canoe Marathon as ICF sports at The World Games in 2025 in Chengdu, China.
- Yichang, China successfully staged the ICF Dragon Boat World Cup in June with races held over 200, 500 and 2000 metres.

Board meetings 2023 in review

Budapest, Hungary – April 28-29

- The ICF agreed to establish the principles for organizing the 100-year anniversary of the organisation, including the budget and framework.
- Mario Santos, Wolfgang Over and Albert Woods were named as members of the Individual Neutral Athlete Eligibility Panel.

Full minutes available here

Online – June 20

- The ICF Policy and Process for Individual Neutral Athlete Eligibility was accepted.
- With Liu Aijie unable to conduct his Vice President duties for an extended period, it was agreed that Luciano Buonfiglio would take on the role on an interim basis alongside his deposition as Treasurer.
- A proposal to establish a Finance Commission, led by Maree Burnett, was unanimously approved.
